PROFILE

Creative and driven professional with extensive experience in content creation, video production, and marketing. My career began with interviewing artists and hosting podcasts, which honed my skills in editing, filming, and podcast management. I have contributed to NetworthPick magazine as a content creator and worked as a photographer and videographer for R2 Radio, where I captured and produced visual content for various events. Additionally, I volunteered at Reading College, filming, creating content, and handling photography tasks. My hands-on experience extends to film production on set. My talent for building connections and my passion for music and media have shaped my career aspirations. I am enthusiastic about leveraging my diverse skills to drive creative projects and talent development.
